The sound chart has been designed to give children more independence when spelling and/or writing as it allows them to look up sounds and sound spellings themselves.

Many sounds in our language can be spelt in several different ways. The Full Sound Chart (which is shown above) has the most common sound (or the easiest to identify) spelling for each sound in bold print and accompanied by a picture. The cloud beneath it contains the common alternative spellings for that sound.

Two different charts are provided to allow for accent and literacy programme differences.
